

PROTECT MARRIAGE!

TALKING POINTS #2

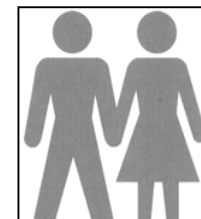

One of the biggest debates in our society is the conflict between those who defend traditional marriage and those who advocated changing the definition of marriage to include homosexual unions. You may have had this conversation with friends and relatives and did not know how to verbalize your views. We have included some "talking points" that might help you.

1. Homosexual marriage denies children the opportunity to have both a mom and a dad. Each is important for development and gender identity.
2. Granting a marriage license to a same-sex couple is as illogical as granting a medical license to a barber because he wears a white coat and uses scissors.
3. Homosexual marriage will devalue traditional marriage. Offering a counterfeit in exchange for the real thing always devalues the genuine. Granting homosexuals "marriage" would be the same as government sanctioning that union. In the Scandinavian countries that have granted the privilege of homosexual "marriage," most people now don't even bother to get married. Out-of-wedlock births have skyrocketed and marriage has been devalued. [Stanley Kurz, National Review Online, "Slipping Toward Scandanavia"; February 02, 2004]
4. Marriage is not just a piece of paper that gives people license to have sex. It has a far deeper meaning, both spiritually and contractually.
5. One of the government's main functions is to promote the public welfare. Marriage provides stability, health, security and long-term viability in stable societies. Therefore, the government has a duty to protect marriage.
