

Concerned Women for America of Maine Joined Family Research Council/Heritage on their Bus Tour

Stops were made at the Moxie Festival, Waldoboro Concert, Hancock County Church and Potato Blossom Festival

The Family Research Council (FRC) and Heritage Foundation Values Voter Bus rolled into Maine for the Moxie Festival in Lisbon Falls and then traveled throughout the state to other events during their four-day stay. Concerned Women for America (CWA) of Maine joined with them in the Moxie Festival parade. Penny Morrell, CWA's state director in Maine, with a former CWA state director from Massachusetts joined in the parade walking behind the buss holding the CWA banner.

Traveling to Waldoboro, we welcomed folks who would be attending a Christian Gospel concert at Waldoboro Baptist Church on Saturday evening before heading up to Orrington where Kenyon Cureton from FRC would preach Sunday morning.

CWA of Maine was well received in all the festivities, and as you can see from the pictures, it was an eventful weekend and blessing to share what God is doing in the public square through our ministry.
